Rhys Roberts

National President

The Australia China Business Council (ACBC) is Australia's largest and most representative member-based business association, focused on the Australia–China business and economic relationship. We help shape Australia's business engagement with China. Since our formation in 1973, we have provided unmatched information, networking opportunities, events, and advocacy for the benefit of our members.

At a time of uncertainty in the global economic and business environment, we remain determined to help our members develop nuanced understandings of Australia's bilateral relationship with China, support informed decision-making, and provide a platform for ongoing engagement, networking, and advocacy.

David Morris

National Chief
Executive Officer

ACBC exists to support and connect individuals and firms: strengthening existing relationships, building new ones, sharing best practice, fostering new opportunities, and providing practical support to help member businesses trade, invest, and engage productively and successfully in and with China.

Membership of ACBC means joining a collective force of companies that believe in the opportunities and potential that come with deepening the Australia–China bilateral business relationship.

Through our sector-specific working groups and an exciting calendar of networking events, conferences, seminars, and publications, ACBC supports members at every stage of their entry into, or growth within, China.

ACBC's network of influence consistently provides members with a valuable platform to develop nuanced understandings of a changing environment, build strong networks, and gain unparalleled access to decision-makers at the highest levels across the Australia–China political and business communities.

Membership is valid nationwide and delivered through your local branch. We warmly invite you to become a member of ACBC, and we look forward to working with you.

Key Pillars

AUSTRALIA CHINA
BUSINESS COUNCIL
澳大利亚中国工商业委员会

ACBC's membership proposition is built around four core pillars: Knowledge, Advocacy, Networks, and Capability. These pillars represent the most critical levers for supporting Australian businesses in their engagement with China.

Knowledge

ACBC provides members with consistent information, programs, and networking opportunities on issues affecting investment, trade, and business with China.

We deliver credible market intelligence through events, exclusive briefings, industry-specific updates, a monthly newsletter, and a members-only portal: helping members stay informed and de-risk their decisions.

Networks

ACBC facilitates trusted connections through national and branch networking events, business matching, hosted introductions and inbound missions, and an online member directory. We host delegations and deliver informative events featuring senior business leaders from Australia and China.

We also develop and maintain dialogue between Australian and Chinese businesses, State and Federal Governments, and other like-minded organisations, collaborating on relevant initiatives and programs.

Advocacy

ACBC acts as a trusted policy voice, providing access to government consultation updates, advocacy roundtables, and thought leadership to help shape bilateral trade settings.

We represent our members' views to Australian policymakers and serve as a conduit between government and the Australian business community.

Capability

ACBC helps members build strong, lasting relationships with businesses and individuals engaged in bilateral trade by lifting China readiness: cultural fluency, compliance, and operational confidence; especially for SMEs and early-stage entrants.

We do this through practical tools and programs, including government briefings, study tours, cultural training, and access to our 'China Capability Program' (in-development).

Vision and Strategy

Our vision is for Australia China Business Council (ACBC) to be Australia's peak and most influential business council dedicated to promoting Australia's capabilities and resources through constructive, sustainable China–Australia trade and investment relations—delivering benefits for our members and the broader Australian community.

ACBC has branches across seven states and territories, representing more than 550 companies. Together, our members engage with thousands of people across Australia, China, and the region. They range from small and medium-sized enterprises to Australia's largest corporations and institutions, spanning every industry and sector.

ACBC deliver value to members by providing relevant, contemporary knowledge and insights; building networks; advocating on members' behalf; and creating and supporting initiatives that foster cooperation and collaboration. ACBC achieves this by engaging a wide range of stakeholders, including members, government organisations, industry associations, research institutes, universities, industry working groups, the media, and those within the broader business community. Our online and social media channels connect with more than 15,000 individuals, and our reach is amplified through collaborative partnerships in Australia and China.

ACBC's Event Categories

Delegations

ACBC hosts visits by Chinese leaders and industry delegations from cities and provinces across China, featuring guest speaker presentations, business-to-business referrals, and targeted introductions.

ACBC also occasionally leads outbound delegations to support members in building connections and exploring opportunities on the ground.

Roundtables

ACBC convenes targeted roundtables that bring together members, subject-matter experts, and senior stakeholders to discuss key developments affecting Australia-China trade and investment.

These small-group sessions enable frank, practical discussion, peer learning, and direct engagement on policy, market conditions, and sector-specific opportunities and challenges.

Summits

ACBC delivers high-impact summits that convene senior leaders from government, industry, and the business community to explore priority issues and opportunities shaping Australia-China trade and investment.

Featuring keynote addresses, panel discussions, and targeted networking, these events provide timely insights, elevate member engagement, and support collaboration across sectors.

Forums

ACBC delivers topical forums designed to translate complex policy and market changes into practical takeaways for business; especially across education, property, finance, health, agribusiness, energy and resources, and tourism and the visitor economy.

With high-quality speakers, moderated Q&A, and opportunities to connect with peers, forums help members stay informed, build relationships within and across industries, and support practical dialogue and collaboration.

Networking

ACBC hosts networking events, such as member drinks, receptions, luncheons, and gala dinners that bring together business leaders and decision-makers across sectors to strengthen relationships and build new connections across Australia and China.

These events provide informal, high-quality settings for meaningful conversations, introductions, and collaboration.

Working Groups

ACBC's working groups are not only the premier knowledge hub and information-sharing platform among our members; but simultaneously also shape program content and industry advocacy for the broader community.

By joining one of ACBC's working groups, you can raise the profile of yourself and your organisation, and also help showcase the strength of yourself and your organisation's capabilities.

While your membership may be based in a specific state or territory (and most working groups operate at branch level), participation is available nationwide. We encourage you to explore the working groups and subcommittees most relevant to your interests and sector.
